REVENUE DEPARTMENT.

A Dictionary of the Economic Products of India.

By DR. GEO. WAIT, C.I.E.,
Reporter on Economic Products.

Published under the authority of the Government of India in the Revenue and Agricultural Department.

The first two volumes of this work are now ready for issue, and intending subscribers are invited to register their names with the Superintendent of Government Printing, Calcutta. The Dictionary is intended to deal with the products of India—animal, vegetable, and mineral, each product is brought under a uniform plan, the paragraphs of which give the scientific, vernacular, and European names, habit of growth, history, properties, and uses, both chemical and physical; trade statistics, markets, &c. The work is arranged alphabetically according to scientific nomenclature, but contains all important vernacular names and also a cross-reference, so that little difficulty need be experienced in finding the account of a product even when its scientific name is unknown to the reader.

An important feature of the Dictionary considered in the fact that derived information is in every instance given on the original marks, and with a reference to the original publication. Numerous contributions have, however, furnished the results of new discoveries, and confirm the veracity of the names in the Dictionary is not only a complete compilation of published information, but has been brought abreast of the most recent inventions and discoveries.

Volume I contains the letters A and B, and consists of 500 pages. Volume II embraces the letters C to Z, and consists of 400 pages. Volume III is in course of preparation, and will contain the letters D, E, F, and G. The whole work will, it is expected, be completed in six volumes by 1895, but a seventh volume may also be issued containing an index to all the contents of all other names contained in the Dictionary and the work as a work of reference, it is hoped, may prove of considerable value.

The price to subscribers will be in India Rs9 and in England 2 guineas, payable in advance, for the complete set. An extra charge for packing and postage will be made for the set in India, at 8 annas per volume, and for England at 2 sups. 6 annas per volume.

For copies bound in half calf or half morocco, Rs18 18 shillings respectively, will be charged extra for the whole set.

*No copies will be issued to non-subscribers till the work is complete, and no single volume will be sold separately. The price to non-subscribers will be Rs15 in India, and 2 guineas in England, exclusive of packing and postage.

REVENUE DEPARTMENT.

A Dictionary of the Economic Products of India.

By DR G. W. WATTS, C.I.E.,
Reporter on Economic Products

Published under the authority of the Government of India in the Revenue and Agricultural Department.

The first two volumes of this work are now ready for issue, and intending subscribers are invited to register their names with the Superintendent of Government Printing, Calcutta.

An important feature of the Dictionary consists in the fact that derived information is in every instance given under quotation marks, and with a reference to the original publication. Numerous contributions have, however, furnished the results of new discoveries, and confirmed the vernacular names, so that the Dictionary is not only a complete compilation of published information, but has also brought abreast of the most recent inventions and discoveries.

Volumes I contains the letters A and B, and consists of 559 royal pages, Volumes II embraces the letters C in 639 pages, Volumes III in course of preparation, and will contain the letters D, E, F, and G. The whole work will, it is expected, be completed in six volumes by 1891, but a seventh volume may also be issued consisting of an index to all the vernacular and other names contained in the Dictionary, and thus as a work of reference, it is hoped, may prove of considerable value. The price to subscribers will be in India Rs 30 and in England 2 guineas, payable in advance, for the complete set. An extra charge for packing and postage will be made for the set—in India, at 8 annas per volume, and for England at 2 rupees 6 annas per volume.

For copies bound in half calf or half morocco, Rs 6 and 8 shillings respectively, will be charged extra for the whole sets.

No copies will be sent to non-subscribers till the work is complete, and no single volume will be sold separately. The price to non-subscribers will be Rs 5 in India, and 2 guineas in England, exclusive of postage.

REVENUE DEPARTMENT.

A Dictionary of the Economic Products of India.

By Dr G. WITT, C.I.E.,
Reporter on Economic Products.

Published under the authority of the Government of India, in the Revenue and Agricultural Department.

The first two volumes of this work are now ready for issue, and intending subscribers are invited to register their names with the Superintendent of Government Printing, Calcutta.

Volume I contains the letters A and B, and consists of 550 royal pages; Volume II embraces the letters C in 689 pages; Volume III is in course of preparation, and will contain the letters D, E, F, and G. The whole work will, it is expected, be completed in six volumes by 1891, but a seventh volume may also be issued consisting of an Index to all the vernacular and other names contained in the Dictionary, and thus as a work of reference, it is hoped, may prove of considerable value. The price to subscribers will be in India Rs 30 and in England 2 guineas, payable in advance, for the complete set. An extra charge for packing and postage will be made for the set—in India, at 3 annas per volume, and for England at 2 rupees 6 annas per volume.

For copies bound in half calf or half morocco, Rs 6 and 8 shillings respectively, will be charged extra for the whole sets.

*. No copies will be sent to non-subscribers till the work is complete, and no single volume will be sold separately. The price to non-subscribers will be Rs 5 in India, and 3 guineas in England, exclusive of packing and postage.

REVENUE DEPARTMENT.

A Dictionary of the Economic Products of India.

By DR GEO. WATT, C.I.E.,
Reporter on Economic Products.

Published under the authority of the Government of India in the Revenue and Agricultural Department.

The first two volumes of this work are now ready for issue, and intending subscribers are invited to register their names with the Superintendent of Government Printing, Calcutta.

Volume I contains the letters A and B, and consists of 559 royal pages. Volume II embraces the letters C in 689 pages. Volume III is in course of preparation, and will contain the letters D, E, F, and G. The whole work will, it is expected, be completed in six volumes by 1891; but a seventh volume may also be issued containing an index to all the vernacular and other names contained in the Dictionary; and thus as a work of reference, it is hoped, may prove of considerable value.

The price to subscribers will be in India R 30 and in England 2 guineas, payable in advance, for the complete set. An extra charge for packing and postage will be made for the set—in India, at 8 annas per volume, and for England at 2 rupees 6 annas per volume.

For copies bound in half calf or half morocco, R 6 and 8 shillings respectively, will be charged extra for the whole set. No copies will be issued to non-subscribers till the work is complete, and no single volume will be sold separately. The price to non-subscribers will be R 45 in India, and 3 guineas in England, exclusive of packing and postage.

REVENUE DEPARTMENT.

A Dictionary of the Economic Products of India.

By Dr GRO WALF, C.I.E.,
Reporter on Economic Products.

Published under the authority of the Government of India in the Revenue and Agricultural Department.

Volume I contains the letters A and B, and consists of 539 royal pages. Volume II embraces the letter C in 689 pages. Volume III is in course of preparation, and will contain the letters D, E, F, and G. The whole work, it is expected, be completed in six volumes by 1891, but a seventh volume may also be issued consisting of an Index to all the vernacular and other names contained in the Dictionary; and thus as a work of reference, it is hoped, may prove of considerable value.

The price to subscribers will be in India Rs 30 and in England 6 guineas, payable in advance, for the complete set. An extra charge for packing and postage will be made for the set—in India, at 8 annas per volume, and for England at 2 rupees a annas per volume.

For copies bound in half calf or half morocco, Rs 6 and 8 shillings respectively, will be charged extra for the whole sets.

*No copies will be issued to non-subscribers till the work is complete, and no single volume will be sold separately. The price to non-subscribers, Rs 145 in India, and 3 guineas in England, exclusive of packing and postage.

REVENUE DEPARTMENT.

A Dictionary of the Economic Products of India.

By Dr. Geo. WATT, C.I.E.,
Reporter on Economic Products.

Published under the authority of the Government of India in the Revenue and Agricultural Department.

The first two volumes of this work are now ready for issue, and intending subscribers are invited to register their names with the Superintendent of Government Printing, Calcutta.

Volume I contains the letters A and B, and consists of 339 royal pages. Volume II embraces the letters C in 689 pages. Volume III is in course of preparation, and will contain the letters D, E, F, and G. The whole work will, it is expected, be completed in six volumes by 1891, but a seventh volume may also be issued containing of an index to all the vernacular and other names contained in the Dictionary; and this as a work of reference, it is hoped, may prove of considerable value.

The price to subscribers will be in India Rs 30 and in England 6 guineas, payable in advance, for the complete set. An extra charge for packing and postage will be made for the set in India, at 8 annas per volume, and for England at 2 annas 6 annas per volume.

For copies bound in half calf or half morocco, Rs 6 and 8 shillings respectively, will be charged extra for the whole set.

No copies will be sent to non-subscribers till the work is complete, and no single volume will be sold separately. The price to non-subscribers will be Rs 5 in India, and 3 guineas in England, exclusive of packing and postage.

REVENUE DEPARTMENT.

A Dictionary of the Economic Products of India.

By DR. GEO. WATT, C.I.E.,
Reporter on Economic Products.

Published under the authority of the Government of India in the Revenue and Agricultural Department.

Volume I contains the letters A and B, and consists of 359 royal pages. Volume II embraces the letter C in 689 pages. Volume III is in course of preparation, and will contain the letters D, E, F, and G. The whole work will, it is expected, be completed in six volumes by 1891, but a seventh volume may also be issued consisting of an index to all the vernacular and other names contained in the Dictionary; and this as a work of reference, it is hoped, may prove of considerable value. The price to subscribers will be in India Rs. 20 and in England 5 guineas, payable in advance, for the complete set. An extra charge for packing and postage will be made for the set—in India, at 8 annas per volume, and for England at 2 rupees 5 annas per volume.

For copies bound in half calf or half morocco, Rs. 8 and 8 shillings respectively, will be charged extra for the whole set.

*No copies will be issued to non-subscribers till the work is complete, and no single volume will be sold separately. The price to non-subscribers will be Rs. 15 in India, and 3 guineas in England, exclusive of packing and postage.

REVENUE DEPARTMENT.

A Dictionary of the Economic Products of India

By DR. G. O. WALL, C. I. E.,
Reporter on Economic Products

Published under the authority of the Government of India in the Revenue and Agricultural Department.

The first two volumes of this work are now ready for issue, and intending subscribers are invited to register their names with the Superintendent of Government Printing, Calcutta.

An important feature of the Dictionary consists in the fact that derived information is given in the form of under quotation marks, and with a reference to the original publication. Numerous contributions have, however, furnished the results of new discoveries, and confirmed the vernacular names, so that the Dictionary is not only a complete compilation of published information, but has been brought abreast of the most recent inventions and discoveries.

Volume I contains the letters A and B, and consists of 599 royal pages. Volume II embraces the letters C in 689 pages. Volume III is in course of preparation, and will contain the letters D, E, F, and G. The whole work will, it is expected, be completed in six volumes by 1891, but a seventh volume may also be issued consisting of an Index to all the vernacular and other names contained in the Dictionary, and thus as a work of reference, it is hoped, may prove of considerable value.

The price to subscribers will be in India Rs 30 and in England a guinea, payable in advance, for the complete set. An extra charge for packing and postage will be made for the set—in India, at 8 annas per volume, and for England at 2 rupees 0 annas per volume.

For copies bound in half calf or half morocco, Rs 6 and 8 shillings respectively, will be charged extra for the whole sets.

REVENUE DEPARTMENT.

A Dictionary of the Economic Products of India.

By Dr. G. WATT, C.I.E.,
Reporter on Economic Products

Published under the authority of the Government of India in the Revenue and Agricultural Department.

The first two volumes of this work are now ready for issue, and intending subscribers are invited to register their names with the Superintendent of Government Printing, Calcutta.

Volume I contains the letters A and B, and consists of 559 royal pages. Volume II embraces the letter C in 689 pages. Volume III is in course of preparation, and will contain the letters D, E, F, and G. The whole work will, it is expected, be completed in six volumes by 1891, but a seventh volume may also be issued consisting of an index to all the vernacular and other names contained in the Dictionary, and thus as a work of reference, it is hoped, may prove of considerable value.

The price to subscribers will be in India Rs. 50 and in England 2 guineas, payable in advance, for the complete set. An extra charge for packing and postage will be added for the set—in India, at 8 annas per volume, and for England at 2 rupees 6 annas per volume.

For copies bound in half calf or half morocco, R6 and 8 shillings respectively, will be charged extra for the whole sets.

*No copies will be issued to non-subscribers till the work is complete and no single volume will be sold separately. The price to non-subscribers will be Rs. 5 in India, and 3 guineas in England, exclusive of packing and postage.

REVENUE DEPARTMENT.

- A Dictionary of the Economic Products of India.
 By Dr Geo. WATF, C.I.E.,
Reporter on Economic Products

Published under the authority of the Government of India in the Revenue and Agricultural Department.

- The first two volumes of this work are now ready for issue, and intending subscribers are invited to regular their names with the Superintendent of Government Printing, Calcutta.
 Volume I contains the letters A and B, and consists of 559 royal pages, Volume II embraces the letters C in 689 pages, Volume III in in course of preparation, and will contain the letters D, E, F, and G. The whole work will, it is expected, be completed in six volumes by 1891; but a seventh volume may also be issued consisting of an Index to all the vernacular and other names contained in the Dictionary, and thus as a work of reference, it is hoped, may prove of considerable value.
 The price to subscribers will be in India R40 and in England 2 guineas, payable in advance, for the complete set. An extra charge for packing and postage will be made for the set—in India, at 8 annas per volume, and for England at 2 rupees 6 annas per volume.
 For copies bound in half calf or half morocco, R6 and 8 shillings respectively, will be charged extra for the whole sets.
No copies will be issued to non-subscribers till the work is complete and no single volume will be sold separately. The price to non-subscribers will be Rs9 in India, and 3 guineas in England, exclusive of packing and postage.

REVENUE DEPARTMENT.

A Dictionary of the Economic Products of India.

By Dr. G. W. WAIR, C.I.E.,

Reporter on Economic Products.

Published under the authority of the Government of India in the Revenue and Agricultural Department.

The first two volumes of this work are now ready for issue, and intending subscribers are invited to register their names with the Superintendent of Government Printing, Calcutta.

Volume I contains the letters A and B, and consists of 539 royal pages, Volume II embraces the letter C in 639 pages, Volume III is in course of preparation, and will contain the letters D, E, F, and G. The whole work will, it is expected, be completed in six volumes by 1891, but a seventh volume may also be issued consisting of an Index to all the vernacular and other names contained in the Dictionary, and thus as a work of reference, it is hoped, may prove of considerable value. The price to subscribers will be in India Rs 30 and in England 2 guineas, payable in advance, for the complete set. An extra charge for packing and postage will be made for the set—in India, at 8 annas per volume, and for England at 2 rupees 6 annas per volume.

For copies bound in half calf or half morocco, Rs 6 and 8 shillings respectively, will be charged extra for the whole sets.

*No copies will be issued to non-subscribers till the work is complete and no single volume will be sold separately. The price to non-subscribers will be Rs 5 in India, and 3 guineas in England, exclusive of packing and postage.

REVENUE DEPARTMENT.

A Dictionary of the Economic Products of India.

By DR. G. G. WALL, C.I.F.,
R. 1910 in Economic Products

Published at the authority of the Government of India in the Revenue and Agricultural Department.

The first two volumes of this work are now ready for issue, and intending subscribers are invited to register their names with the Superintendent of Government Printing, Calcutta. The Dictionary is intended to deal with the products of India—animal, vegetable, and mineral, rich products being treated after a uniform plan, the principles of which give the origin, the vernacular, and European names, habitat or source, history, properties and uses, both chemical and industrial, trade statistics, markets, &c. The work is arranged alphabetically according to scientific nomenclature, but commercial and important vernacular names are also given as cross references, so that little difficulty need be experienced in finding the account of a product even when its scientific name is unknown to the reader.

An important feature of the Dictionary consists in the fact that derived information is given in every instance given under qualitative marks, and with a reference to the original publication. Numerous contributions have, however, furnished the results of new discoveries, and continue of the vernacular names, so that the Dictionary is not only a complete compendium of published information, but is brought abreast of the most recent inventions and discoveries.

Volume I contains the letters A and B, and consists of 750 pages; Volume II contains the letters C to Z, and consists of 1,000 pages. In one set of the publication, and will contain the letters D, E, F, G, H, I, J, K, L, M, N, O, P, Q, R, S, T, U, V, W, X, Y, Z. The whole work, it is expected, will be completed in six volumes by 1901, but a seventh volume may also be issued containing in Index to all the vernacular and other names contained in the Dictionary, and this, as a work of reference, it is hoped, may prove of considerable value.

The price to subscribers will be in India Rs. 10 and in England guineas, payable in advance, by the complete set. An extra charge for packing and postage will be made for the set—in India, 8 annas per volume, and for England at 2 pence 1 anna per volume.

For copies bound in half calf or half morocco, Rs. 8 and 8 shillings respectively, will be charged extra for the whole set. *No copy will be sent to non-subscribers till the work is complete and no separate volume will be sold separately. The price of non-subscribers in India, Rs. 10 and 5 annas in England, exclusive of postage.

16. Should default be made in presenting a document returned under Rule 12 or in appearing when time has been allowed under Rule 15, and it appears inadvisable to extend the order previously made in the matter, the Registering Officer may refuse registration.

17. The reasons for refusal to register, which shall be recorded in Book No. 2, are the following —

(a) vide Rule 9 (2) and Rules 11, 12, 16, and 25

(b) that the document has not been presented by a person executing or claiming under it, or by his representative or assign, or by an agent of any of them duly authorized by power of attorney executed and authenticated under section 33 (section 32)

(g) that the document has not space left blank for entry of endorsements, as required by Rule 7

(h) that the document is not stamped in accordance with the provisions of the Indian Stamp Act, I of 1879, or the Rules framed under that Act, and, having been impounded, has been returned by the Collector of Stamp Revenue, who has not by his certificate made under clause (a) of section 37 of that Act, rendered the document admissible for registration:

(i) that fees and costs of registration, having been demanded under section 80, have not been paid.

18. The record of the reasons shall be made in Book No. 2 at the time the refusal to register is decided on, and on the document the words "Registration refused," with the date and the signature of the refusing officer and the title of his office, shall alone be endorsed. This endorsement shall be sealed.

19. Registration shall not be refused on the ground that any person executing or claiming under the document is unwilling that it shall be registered, or that want of failure of full consideration or denial of execution with free consent (as defined in section 14 of the Indian Contract Act, IX of 1872) is pleaded by the obligor under the document, although he admits execution. Provided that the terms of the deed shall be clearly explained to the parties, and whenever any such plea as above indicated is raised or any objection is taken to the terms of the document, the fact is to be recorded by the Registering Officer in an endorsement in Form II (e). The case of refusal to sign endorsements is provided for in section 58.

20. When the parties mentioned in section 34 are present at the time of the presentation of a document for registration, and the enquiry directed by that section can there be made, the procedure under section 58 need not be delayed till the document has been copied under Rule 11, but the certificate under section 60 should not be endorsed till then. Endorsements made under section 58 shall be in Form II (a), (b), (c), (d), or (e), or Form III, as the case may require, and endorsements made under section 60 shall be in Form IV.

21. All endorsements made on documents shall at the time of their being made be copied into the margin of the page or pages of the book into which the document has been copied, and in successive order, and at foot of the last endorsement so copied the value of the stamp paper used for, or of the adhesive Court-fee stamp affixed to the document, shall be recorded. The amount of the ordinary, extraordinary and copying fees levied on the document by the Registering Officer shall be recorded below the value of the stamp paper or stamp, and the Registering Officer shall sign the entry.

22. Errors, erasures, interlineations, &c., in the original document shall be copied in the Register Book exactly as they appear in the document. A note shall be made in the margin of the book explanatory of such errors, &c., and in the following manner—

In the case of an erasure, by two marks ++, one at each end of the erasure, with similar marks and the word "erasure" with the initials of the Registering Officer in the margin of the book.

23. The Registering Officer shall authenticate each copy made into a register by initialling it at the four corners. This is in every case to be done prior to the return of the document to the person who presented it or claims it, and, prior to so initialling, the Registering Officer shall examine the copy made, and should he find that any error has been made in copying, he shall cause the error to be corrected and affix to it his initials, should an interlineation or erasure be necessary, he shall affix his initials to both ends of the same.

24. The entries made into the registers shall be serially numbered, and the numbering shall commence and terminate with the calendar year. Volumes of books shall be similarly numbered. At the end of each year, if the book in use be not completely filled, it shall not be necessary to open a new book, but a half sheet of foolscap paper shall be pasted into the book after the last entry made in the expired year, and on this shall be written the words—

Book No —, Volume No — of 18 .

[The next entry made will be Serial No 1 of the year.]

25. Before registering a copy of a court decree or order, the Registering Officer shall ascertain if it be properly certified, and is not disqualified for registration for any of the reasons mentioned in Rule 17 which may apply to it. Such a copy shall not be considered properly certified, unless it has a certificate at foot of it, that it is a true copy of the document or part of the document, as the case may be, dated and signed with his official title by the officer whose duty it is to grant copies, and if he is authorized or required by law to use a seal, the certificate must be sealed (section 76, Indian Evidence Act, I of 1872). If the document prove not to be a properly certified copy, registration shall be refused. The only endorsements that shall be made on certified copies of decrees or orders of courts shall be the presentation, endorsement (section 52), and the final certificate of registration (section 60) or the endorsement of refusal to register (section 71). Sections 34 and 35 do not apply to such copies.

26. After registration has been completed or refusal to register has taken place, the person who presented the document shall produce the receipt given to him for it, and the document shall then be returned to him. Should he, by endorsement made on the receipt, have authorized another person to receive the document, it shall, on delivery to the Registering Officer of the receipt so endorsed, be handed to such person. The date of the return of the document and the name of the person to whom delivered shall be endorsed on the receipt, which shall then be pasted on to the counterfoil in the receipt book. When returning a document to a person, the Registering Officer shall enquire from him the exact amount which the person who presented the document has paid as fees or costs for its registration, and ascertain whether the amount stated to have been paid corresponds with the entry in the fee or cash account book, and in the receipt, if it does not, he shall require immediate explanation from the Moharir.

27. Should a document remain unclaimed for one month from the date on which certificate of registration or refusal to register was recorded on it, it shall be entered in the "List of unclaimed documents," Form XIII. This list shall be conspicuously exposed to public view in the Registration Office. A document which has been entered in the list shall thereafter not be returned unless and until a fee for its safe custody, at the rate prescribed in the fee table, is paid by the person who presented it for registration or by the person whom he may have authorized, under Rule 26, to claim it. 9. The Political Agent may, at his discretion, or under orders from the Agent to the Governor-General, make it a condition of the pass that the bulk of the consignment for which it is granted shall not be broken after arrival at its destination as specified in the pass, until after the consignment has been examined by an officer deputed or authorised by the Political Agent for that purpose; provided that such examination shall be made within seven days from the date on which the Political Agent is informed of the arrival of the consignment.

10. If any officer competent to exercise the powers of seizure, detention and search conferred by sections 14 and 15 of the Opium Act, 1 of 1878, as so applied as aforesaid, finds that the packages are fewer, or the amount of opium less (by more than the dryage allowance of one-quarter per cent.) than the number or amount specified in the pass, he shall immediately report the circumstances to the Political Agent, who will decide whether a prosecution shall, or shall not, be instituted.

Import

11. The importation of opium from British India by a licensed contractor is permitted, subject to the following conditions—

- (a) he must obtain from the Political Agent a license specifying—
 - (1) the quantity of opium required,
 - (2) the source of supply, and
 - (3) the name of the licensed contractor or his agents, and
- (b) the opium must be covered by a pass granted by a duly authorised officer of the place from which it is imported

12. The bulk of a consignment shall not be broken during importation.

13. The Political Agent may, at his discretion, or under orders from the Agent to the Governor-General, make it a condition of the license that the bulk of any consignment of opium imported under a pass as above provided shall not be broken after arrival at its destination, until after the consignment has been examined by an officer deputed or authorised by the Political Agent for that purpose, provided that such examination shall be made within seven days from the date on which the Political Agent is informed of the arrival of the consignment.

14. If any officer competent to exercise the powers of seizure, detention and search conferred by sections 14 and 15 of the Opium Act, I of 1878, as so applied as aforesaid, finds that the packages are fewer or the amount of opium less (by more than the drayage allowance of one-quarter per cent.) than the number or amount specified in the pass, he shall immediately report the circumstances to the Political Agent, who will decide whether a prosecution shall, or shall not, be instituted.

Sale.

15. The sale of opium is permitted, subject to the following conditions—

- (1) the opium must have been either imported under a license obtained under rule 11 or bought from a licensed contractor,
- (2) if the sale is by wholesale, it must, unless it is made by one licensed contractor to another, be made under the special order of the Political Agent;
- (3) if the sale is by retail, it must be made by a licensed contractor or his agent at a shop duly authorised for that purpose by the Political Agent.

16. Any shop at which the sale of opium has been authorised may be closed or removed at the discretion of the Political Agent.

17. Contracts for the exclusive right to sell opium by retail may be granted by the Political Agent with the previous sanction of the Agent to the Governor-General. Such contracts shall be put up to auction before the commencement of each official year.

19. Contracts for the exclusive right to sell opium by retail shall be granted for one year only, unless the Agent to the Governor-General shall otherwise specifically direct.

20. If any licensed contractor shall, on the expiry of his contract, have in his possession any opium which he is unable to dispose of to the satisfaction of the Political Agent by private sale to other licensed contractors, he shall surrender the same to the Political Agent, and the incoming licensed contractor, or, if the expired contract is not renewed, any licensed contractor within the district shall, when required by the Political Agent, be bound to purchase the opium aforesaid to the extent of two months' supply, at such price, and in such quantities, as the Political Agent shall adjudge. Provided that the price of the opium thus adjudged shall in no case exceed the rate at which opium can be procured under a license obtained under rule 11. Provided also that, if such opium be declared by the Civil Surgeon or other principal medical officer to be unfit for use, the Political Agent shall cause the same to be destroyed.

Import and Export within local limits of contracts of licensed contractors.

21. When the local area to which the contract of a licensed contractor extends is partly in the territories administered by the Agent to the Governor-General in Baluchistan as such Agent and partly in British Baluchistan, the licensed contractor may import and export opium from one part of such local area to another, and in every such case rules 7 to 10, both inclusive, shall apply.

Disposal of things confiscated

22. Opium confiscated under the Opium Act, I of 1878, as so applied as aforesaid, shall be examined by the Civil Surgeon or other principal medical officer, and, if declared by him to be fit for use, shall be sent to the nearest Government treasury, and be disposed of as the Political Agent may direct. If declared to be unfit for use, it shall be immediately destroyed.

23. All property, other than opium, which is confiscated under the said Act shall be sold under the orders of the Magistrate or other officer by whom the confiscation was adjudged.

24. Any Magistrate convicting an offender under section 9, or any Magistrate or other authorised officer ordering the confiscation of opium under section 12 of the Opium Act, I of 1878, as so applied as aforesaid, may grant a reward not exceeding the value of the opium confiscated, together with the amount of any fine realised, in such proportions as he may think fit, to any person or persons who have contributed to the seizure of the opium or the conviction of the offender.

REVENUE DEPARTMENT.

A Dictionary of the Economic Products of India.

By DR. GRA. WALL, C.I.E.,
Reporter on Economic Products

Published under the authority of the Government of India in the Revenue and Agricultural Department.

The first two volumes of this work are now ready for issue, and intending subscribers are invited to register their names with the Superintendent Government Printing, Calcutta.

The Dictionary is intended to deal with the products of India—annual, vegetable, and mineral, each product being treated after a uniform plan, the paragraphs of which give the scientific, vernacular, and European names; habitat or source, history, properties and uses, both chemical and industrial, trade statistics, markets, &c. The work is arranged alphabetically according to scientific nomenclature, but commercial and important vernacular names are also given as cross references, so that little difficulty need be experienced in finding the account of a product even when its scientific name is unknown to the reader.

Volume I contains the letters A, B, C, and consists of 359 royal pages. Volume II embraces the letter C in 683 pages. Volume III is in course of preparation, and will contain the letters D, E, F, and G. The whole work will, it is expected, be completed in six volumes by 1891, but a seventh volume may also be issued consisting of an index to all the vernacular and other names contained in the Dictionary, and thus as a work of reference, it is hoped, may prove of considerable value.

The price to subscribers will be in India R30 and in England 2 guineas, payable in advance, for the complete set. An extra charge for packing and postage will be made to the subscribers in India, at 8 annas per volume; and for England at 2 rupees 6 annas per volume.

For copies bound in half calf or half morocco, R6 and 8 shillings respectively, will be charged extra for the whole sets.

*No copies will be issued to non-subscribers till the work is complete and the whole volume will be sold subsequently. The price to non-subscribers will be R45 in India, and 3 guineas in England, exclusive of packing and postage.

REVENUE DEPARTMENT.

A Dictionary of the Economic Products of BY D. G. WALLACE.

Published under the authority of the Government of India, Revenue and Agricultural Department.

The first volume of the work is now published, containing the following subjects:—
The Dictionary is intended to deal with the products of——animal, vegetable, and mineral, which are being (after a previous plan, the publication of which gave the title, Vernacular and European names, their uses, history, properties, and uses, both chemical and industrial statistics, markets, &c.) The work is arranged in a tabular form according to the nomenclature, historical and important vernacular names, and is given in a series of 100,000, so that little difficulty need be experienced in the account of a product even when its scientific name is known to the reader.

An important feature of the Dictionary consists in the derived information in every instance given under each mark, and with a reference to the original public documents, contributions have, however, furnished the Dictionary, and contains of the various names, with the Dictionary is not only a complete compilation of latest information, but has been brought abreast of the recent inventions and discoveries.

Volume I contains the letters A and B, and consists of 499 pages; Volume II embraces the letters C in 494 pages; Volume III is in course of preparation, and will contain the letters D, E, F, and G. The whole work will, it is expected, be completed in six volumes, by 1891, but a seventh volume also be issued consisting of an index to all the vernacular and other names contained in the Dictionary, and this as a reference, it is hoped, may prove of considerable value. The price to subscribers will be in India Rs. 10 and in England £10, payable in advance for the complete set. An increase in packing and postage will be made for the volume in India, at 8 annas per volume, and for England at 2 annas per volume.

For copies bound in half calf or half morocco, Rs. 10 and 5 shall respectively, will be charged extra for the whole set. No copies will be issued to non-subscribers, but for sale, in bulk, and in single volumes will be sold separately. The price non-subscribers will be Rs. 15 in India, and 5 annas in England, exclusive of packing and postage.

REVENUE DEPARTMENT.

A Dictionary of the Economic Products of India.

By Dr G. WATT, C.I.E.,
 Reporter on Economic Products.

Published under the authority of the Government of India in the Revenue and Agricultural Department.

An important feature of the Dictionary consists in the fact that derived information in every instance given under quotation marks, and with a reference to the original publication. Numerous contributions have, however, furnished the results of new discoveries, and confirmed the vernacular names, so that the Dictionary is not only a complete compilation of published information, but has been brought abreast of the most recent inventions and discoveries.

Volume I contains the letters A and B, and consists of 559 royal pages, Volume II embraces the letter C in 689 pages, Volume III is in course of preparation, and will contain the letters D, E, F, and G. The whole work will, it is expected, be completed in six volumes by 1891, but a seventh volume may also be issued consisting of an Index to all the vernacular and other names contained in the Dictionary; and thus as a work of reference, it is hoped, may prove of considerable value to the student of the subject in India, Europe, and in England. The price to subscribers in advance, for the complete set—An extra charge for packing and postage will be made for the set—in India, at 8 annas per volume, and for England at 2 rupees 6 annas per volume.

For copies bound in half calf or half morocco, Rs 8 and 8 shillings respectively, will be charged extra for the whole sets.

*No copies will be issued to non-subscribers till the work is complete and no single volume will be sold separately. The price to non-subscribers will be Rs 5 in India, and 3 guineas in England, exclusive of packing and postage.

REVENUE DEPARTMENT.

A Dictionary of the Economic Products of India.

By DR. G. WALL, C.I.E.,
 Reporter on Economic Products.

Published under the authority of the Government of India in the Revenue and Agricultural Department.

The first two volumes of this work are now ready for issue, and intending subscribers are invited to register their names with the Superintendent of Government Printing, Calcutta. The Dictionary is intended to deal with the products of India—animal, vegetable, and mineral; each product being treated after a uniform plan, the paragraphs of which give the scientific, vernacular, and European names, habitat, or source, history, properties and uses, both chemical and industrial, trade statistics, markets, &c. The work is arranged alphabetically according to scientific nomenclature, but commercial and important vernacular names are also given as cross references, so that little difficulty need be experienced in finding the account of a product even when its scientific name is unknown to the reader.

REVENUE DEPARTMENT.

A Dictionary of the Economic Products of India.

By DR. GEO. WATT, C.I.E.,
Reporter on Economic Products.

Published under the authority of the Government of India in the Revenue and Agricultural Department.

The first two volumes of this work are now ready for issue, and intending subscribers are invited to register their names with the Superintendent, of Government Printing, Calcutta

An important feature of the Dictionary consists in the fact that derived information is every instance given under quotation marks, and with a reference to the original publication. Numerous contributions have, however, furnished the results of new discoveries, and confirmed the vernacular names, so that the Dictionary is not only a complete compilation of published information, but has been brought abreast of the most recent inventions and discoveries.

Volume I contains the letters A and B, and consists of 559 royal pages. Volume II embraces the letter C in 689 pages. Volume III is in course of preparation, and will contain the letters D, E, F, and G. The whole work will, it is expected, be completed in six volumes by 1891, but a seventh volume may also be issued consisting of an index to all the vernacular and other names contained in the Dictionary, and thus as a work of reference, it is hoped, may prove of considerable value.

The price to subscribers will be in India Rs30 and in England 2 guineas, payable in advance, for the complete set. An extra charge for packing and postage will be made for the set—in India, at 8 annas per volume, and for England at 2 rupees 5 annas per volume.

For copies bound in half calf or half morocco, Rs6 and 8 shillings respectively, will be charged extra for the whole sets.

*No copies will be issued to non-subscribers till the work is complete and no single volume will be sold separately. The price to non-subscribers will be Rs15 in India, and 3 guineas in England, exclusive of packing and postage.

REVENUE DEPARTMENT.

A Dictionary of the Economic Products of India.

By DR GEO. WATT, C.I.E.,
Reporter on Economic Products

Published under the authority of the Government of India in the Revenue and Agricultural Department.

The first two volumes of this work are now ready for issue, and intending subscribers are invited to register their names with the Superintendent of Government Printing, Calcutta.

Volume I contains the letters A and B, and consists of 559 royal pages. Volume II embraces the letter C in 689 pages. Volume III is in course of preparation, and will contain the letters D, E, F, and G. The whole work will, it is expected, be completed in six volumes by 1891, but a seventh volume may also be issued consisting of an Index to all the vernacular and other names contained in the Dictionary, and thus as a work of reference, it is hoped, may prove of considerable value.

The price to subscribers will be in India R30 and in England 2 guineas, payable in advance, for the complete set. An extra charge for packing and postage will be made for the set—in India, at 5 annas per volume, and for England at 2 pence 6 annas per volume.

For copies bound in half calf or half morocco, R6 and 8 shillings respectively, will be charged extra for the whole sets.

*No copies will be issued to non-subscribers till the work is complete and no single volume will be sold separately. The price to non-subscribers will be R45 in India, and 3 guineas in England, exclusive of packing and postage.

REVENUE DEPARTMENT.

A Dictionary of the Economic Products of India.

By DR. G. W. WAILE, C.I.E.,
 Reporter on Economic Products.

Published under the authority of the Government of India in the Revenue and Agricultural Department.

The first two volumes of this work are now ready for issue, and intending subscribers are invited to register their names with the Superintendent of Government Printing, Calcutta.

Volume I contains the letters A and B, and consists of 559 royal pages. Volume II embraces the letter C in 639 pages. Volume III is in course of preparation, and will contain the letters D, E, F, and G. The whole work will, it is expected, be completed in six volumes by 1891, but a seventh volume may also be issued consisting of an Index to all the vernacular and other names contained in the Dictionary; and this as a work of reference, it is hoped, may prove of considerable value.

The price to subscribers will be in India Rs 30 and in England 2 guineas, postage is ad idem, for the complete set. An extra charge for packing and postage will be made for the set in India, at 8 annas per volume, and for England at 2 guineas 6 annas per volume.

For copies bound in half calf or half morocco, Rs 6 and 8 shillings respectively, will be charged extra on the whole sets.

No copies will be issued to non-subscribers till the work is complete and no single volume will be sold separately. The price to non-subscribers will be Rs 45 in India, and 3 guineas in England, exclusive of packing and postage.

REVENUE DEPARTMENT.

A Dictionary of the Economic Products of India

By DR. GEO. WATF, C.I.E.

Reporter on Economic Products.

Published under the authority of the Government of India in the Revenue and Agricultural Department.

The first two volumes of this work are now ready for issue, and intending subscribers are invited to register their names with the Superintendent of Government Printing, Calcutta.

Volume I contains the letters A and B, and consists of 539 royal pages. Volume II embraces the letter C in 489 pages, Volume III is in course of preparation, and will contain the letters D, E, F, and G. The whole work will, it is expected, be completed in six volumes by 1891, but a seventh volume may also be issued consisting of an Index to all the vernacular and other names contained in the Dictionary, and thus at a work of reference, it is hoped, may prove of considerable value.

The price to subscribers will be in India Rs 30 and in England 2 guineas, payable in advance, for the complete set. An extra charge for packing and postage will be made for the set—in India, at 8 annas per volume, and for England at 2 rupees 6 annas per volume.

For copies bound in half calf or half morocco, R6 and 8 shillings respectively, will be charged extra to the whole sets.

*No copies will be issued to non-subscribers till the work is complete and no single volume will be sold separately. The price to non-subscribers will be Rs 5 in India, and 3 guineas in England, exclusive of packing and postage.

In the case of confidential maps the previous sanction of the Foreign Office must be obtained. (N.B.—Trans-frontier maps are confidential.)

4. The mode of transit and address or station to which the maps are to be sent should invariably be specified.

B.—Requisitions for Lithographic or Photographic Work.

9 The Photographic and Lithographic Office at Calcutta reproduce maps, plans, and drawings by lithography and by photography on book-debit on the public service, and on cash payment in certain special cases only. The Trigonometrical Branch Office at Dehra Dun does not, as a rule, undertake work for other Departments.

10 As a rule, drawings in line can be reproduced by photozincography if suitably drawn in accordance with instructions which may be obtained on application to the Assistant Surveyor General, Photographic and Lithographic Office, No. 14, Wood Street, Calcutta. Coloured and other drawings unsuitable for photozincography must be lithographed, but the cost is considerably greater.

11 Photographs if required in large numbers can be cheaply reproduced by the photo-collotype and heliogravure processes from suitable negatives.

12 All applications for lithographic or photographic work on the public service should, if possible, be submitted in the following form, which is not required in duplicate. Blank forms may be obtained on application to the Assistant Surveyor General, Surveyor General's Office, or as in Rule 10.

INDENT NO. _____ on the PHOTOGRAPHIC AND LITHOGRAPHIC OFFICE, S. I. DEPT., for _____ to be reproduced by _____ for the use of _____ Dated _____ 189

Description of map or drawing.	Number of original sheets	Scale.	Scale of reproduction.	No of copies required.	Quality and size of paper to be printed on.	Purpose for which required	How and where to be despatched and other special instructions.
							The address which should be affixed to the parcels or cases to be distinctly given in full. Abbreviations sometimes lead to mistakes.

I do hereby certify that the maps, &c., specified in this indent, are indispensably necessary to the best of my knowledge and belief, after the most careful examination.

Recommended.

Counter signature of approving authority.

Signature of Indenting Officer, with designation of appointment in full.

13 All necessary information as to the scale of reproduction, number of copies required, quality and size of paper, mode of transit, and address to which proofs and printed copies are to be despatched, should be shown on the face of the indent and not in a covering letter, unless more explanation is required than can be given on the face of the indent.

14. All indents must be duly approved and countersigned by the heads of departments, or the Government under which indenting officers may be serving, before they can be supplied, via—

Survey of India Department, Trigonometrical Branch, by Deputy Surveyor General, or by Surveyor General.

Ditto ditto Topographical Branch, by Deputy Surveyor General, or by Surveyor General.

Ditto ditto Revenue Branch, by Deputy Surveyor General, or by Surveyor General.

and they should be addressed to the Assistant Surveyor General in charge of the Photographic and Lithographic Office, Calcutta, at No 14, Wood Street.

15. Lithographic and photographic work will be undertaken on behalf of Municipalities, Port Trusts, Railway Companies, the Trustees of the Indian Museum, and other quasi-official bodies for cash payment on indents in the form prescribed above. Private work cannot be undertaken except in very special cases, when it cannot possibly be done otherwise, and when the office can take it up without inconvenience. On such work an extra charge of 10 per cent. will be made over and above the usual rates. In all cases where cash payment is required, an estimate will be given and the amount must be remitted before the work can be put in hand.

16. As a rule, maps and drawings reproduced by lithography or photography are not coloured, but in special cases where colouring is essential, it can be done and will be charged for on book-debit as prescribed under Rule 1. Packing charges will be dealt with in the same way, but transit charges both ways must be paid by indenting officers

17. To enable the indenting officer, as well as the officer who countersigns and finally passes an indent, to know the cost involved thereby, a Scale of Charges showing the average ordinary price of each description of work executed in the Photographic and Lithographic Office can be obtained on application.

18. Indents should be regulated, not according to what an officer would like to have, but by what is absolutely necessary. It is in all cases an economy to have maps and drawings reproduced on as small a scale as possible.

C.—Requisitions for Maps required to be specially prepared.

19. In cases where maps are required on service for special purposes, as for illustrating reports, for which none of the published maps are suitable, application should be made by letter giving full information, addressed to the Assistant Surveyor General in charge of the Drawing Office, 13, Wood Street, Calcutta.

REVENUE DEPARTMENT.

A Dictionary of the Economic Products of India

By DR. G. W. WATTS, C.I.E.

Reporter on Economic Products.

Published under the authority of the Government of India in the Revenue and Agriculture Department.

The first two volumes of this work are now ready for issue, and the Superintendent is invited to register their names.

The Dictionary is intended to deal with the products of the animal, vegetable, and mineral, each product being treated under a uniform plan, the paragraphs of which give the Latin, vernacular, and European names, habitat or source history, properties and uses, both the animal and industrial trade statistics, markets, &c. The work is arranged alphabetically according to scientific nomenclature, but common and important vernacular names are also given as cross references, so that little difficulty need be experienced in finding the account of a product even when its scientific name is known to the reader.

An important feature of the Dictionary consists in the fact that derived information is in every instance given under quotation, and with a reference to the original publication.

Many contributions have, however, furnished the results new discoveries, and confirmed the vernacular names; so that the Dictionary is not only a complete compilation of published information, but has been brought abreast of the most recent investigations and discoveries.

Volume I contains the letters A and B, and consists of 550 pages. Volume II embraces the letter C in 686 pages. Volume III is in course of preparation, and will contain the letters D, E, F, and G.

The whole work will, it is expected, be completed in six volumes by 1897, and a seventh volume is also being prepared containing an index to all the vernacular other names contained in the Dictionary; and thus as a work of reference, it is hoped, may prove of considerable value.

The price to subscribers will be in India Rs 30 and in England guineas, payable in advance, for the complete set. An extra charge for packing and postage will be made for the set—

India, at 8 annas per volume, and for England at a rupee annas per volume.

For copies bound in half calf or half morocco, Rs 6 and 8 shillings respectively, will be charged extra for the whole sets.

*No copies will be issued to non-subscribers till the work is complete and no single volume will be sold separately. The price non-subscribers will be 45s in India, and 5 guineas in England exclusive of packing and postage.

REVENUE DEPARTMENT.

A Dictionary of the Economic Products of India.

By Dr. G. WAIR, C.I.E.,

Reporter on Economic Products.

Published under the authority of the Government of India in the Revenue and Agricultural Department.

The first two volumes of this work are now ready for issue, and intending subscribers are invited to register their names with the Superintendent of Government Printing, Calcutta.

Volume I contains the letters A and B, and consists of 559 royal pages; Volume II embraces the letter C in 689 pages; Volume III is in course of preparation, and will contain the letters D, E, F, and G. The whole work will, it is expected, be completed in six volumes by 1891, but a seventh volume may also be issued consisting of an Index to all the vernacular and other names contained in the Dictionary; and thus as a work of reference, it is hoped, may prove of considerable value.

The price to subscribers will be in India Rs 6 and in England 2 guineas, payable in advance, for the complete set. An extra charge for packing and postage will be made for the set—in India, at 8 annas per volume, and for England at 2 rupees 6 annas per volume.

For copies bound in half calf or half morocco, Rs 6 and 8 shillings respectively, will be charged extra for the whole sets.

*No copies will be issued to non-subscribers till the work is complete and no single volumes will be sold separately. The price to non-subscribers will be Rs 5 in India, and 3 guineas in England, exclusive of packing and postage.

Peons, 2nd grade, each	5

From time to time, it shall be within the competence of the Chief Commissioner to revise the above scale in any or all of its heads and to fix the number of peons to be employed; provided that the number of process-servers shall be sufficient for the execution of a number of processes equal to an annual average of at least three hundred processes for each peon so employed.

For the purpose of computing the said annual average of at least three hundred processes mentioned in the last foregoing proviso, all processes of the same description issued on behalf of the same party, in the same suit or proceeding, and executed at the same time and in the same town or village, shall be reckoned as one process only, whether executed by one or more peon. But if the description of process, or the suit or proceeding, or party, be different, the services will count separately.

12. On special occasions, should it be necessary in order to save delay, any Civil Court may employ an additional messenger for the service and execution of any particular process. But the employment of such additional men must be reported to the Court to which such Court is subordinate, with an explanation of the reason which has made the employment necessary.

13. The distribution of the number of peons allowed under Rule 11 shall be made by the District Judge to the various subordinate Courts according to their needs.

PART V.

Subsidiary instructions regarding process-fees and process-serving establishment for the guidance of the Courts and process-servers.

14. The Nazir of the District shall be deemed to be the Nazir of all the Courts at Ajmere, except of the Courts of the Commissioner and of Small Causes, and shall be under the direct orders of the Assistant Commissioner, Ajmere. The English Bailiff shall be at the service of all the Courts at Ajmere.

The Nazir or any other Officer of the Court conducting the sale of property in execution of a decree shall, under the orders of the Court ordering the sale of such property, be entitled to receive a commission at the rate of Rs 5 per centum on the proceeds of the sale when such proceeds do not exceed Rs 500, and at the rate of Rs 1 per centum on proceeds exceeding Rs 500.

15. A register of peons appointed under Rule 11 shall be kept in the following form, and shall be maintained in the Commissioner's Office —

Name, parentage and caste of peon	Date of birth by Christian era.	Place of abode.	Date of entry in Government service	Date of appointment to present post	Salary.	REMARKS

16. Ordinarily, Civil processes shall only be servable through the registered peons. When resort to others is necessary, the special sanction of the Court in writing shall be obtained.

17. Every registered peon shall be supplied with a belt and badge, shewing in English and Vernacular the Court to which he is attached.

18. In the selection of peons, preference shall be given to those who can read and write.

19. No process shall be prepared or issued until the requisite stamp (if any) has been put in. When the stamp has been put in, it shall be affixed if adhesive, or attached if impressed, to "the Diary of Process-fees" hereinafter mentioned the process shall then be prepared and issued, after cancellation of the stamp put in.

20. On every process issued from any Court, there shall be recorded the name of the process-server deputed to serve or execute the same, the period within which he is required to certify service or execution, the amount of fee paid, and the date of payment, and the date of return after service or execution shall be subsequently endorsed. Such endorsements shall be signed by the Nazir or Naib Nazir or Bailiff.

21. An account of process-fee stamps filed, or processes issued (Civil, Revenue, and Criminal), of the number of peons employed, of the cost of establishment, of process-fees recovered in cash and of contingencies, shall be kept for each Court, where a separate establishment is entertained.

22. With the record of each Civil and Revenue case, and of each Criminal case in which process-fees are levied, shall be kept a separate sheet of paper, which should be devoted to the sole purpose of maintaining a record of processes, to be termed the "Diary of Process-fees." This diary shall be in the following form, and shall form a portion of File A. Entries of every process order to be issued in the case shall be made therein in chronological order, and the stamps, if adhesive, shall be affixed opposite the order, or if impressed attached to it, and cancelled immediately upon being affixed or attached.

REVENUE DEPARTMENT.

A Dictionary of the Economic Products of India.

By DR. GEO. WATT, C.I.E.,

Reporter on Economic Products.

Published under the authority of the Government of India in the Revenue and Agricultural Department.

The first two volumes of this work are now ready for issue, and intending subscribers are invited to register their names with the Superintendent of Government Printing, Calcutta.

Volume I contains the letters A and B, and consists of 559 royal pages, Volume II embraces the letter C in 689 pages, Volume III is in course of preparation, and will contain the letters D, E, F, and G. The whole work will, it is expected, be completed in six volumes by 1891, but a seventh volume may also be issued consisting of an index to all the vernacular and other names contained in the Dictionary; and thus as a work of reference, it is hoped, may prove of considerable value.

The price to subscribers will be in India Rs 30 and in England 2 guineas, payable in advance, for the complete set. An extra charge for packing and postage will be made for the set in India, at 8 annas per volume, and for England at 2 rupees 6 annas per volume.

For copies bound in half calf or half morocco, Rs 8 and 8 shillings respectively, will be charged extra for the whole sets.

*No copies will be issued to non-subscribers till the work is complete, and no single volume will be sold separately. The price to non-subscribers will be Rs 5 in India, and 3 guineas in England, exclusive of packing and postage.

REVENUE DEPARTMENT.

A Dictionary of the Economic Products of India.

By Dr. Geo. WATTS, C.I.E.

Reprinted on Economic Products

Published under the authority of the Government of India in the Revenue and Agricultural Departments

The first two volumes of this work are now ready for issue, and intending subscribers are invited to register their names with the Superintendent of Government Printing, Calcutta

Volume I contains the letters A and B, and consists of 550 royal pages. Volume II embraces the letter C in 680 pages. Volume III is in course of preparation, and will contain the letters D, E, F, and G. The whole work, it is expected, be completed in six volumes by 1891, but a seventh volume may also be issued consisting of an index to all the vernacular and other names contained in the Dictionary; and thus as a work of reference, it is hoped, may prove of considerable value.

The price to subscribers will be in India Rs 50 and in England 2 guineas, payable in advance, for the complete set. An extra charge for packing and postage will be made for the set—in India, at 8 annas per volume, and for England at 2 rupees 6 annas per volume.

For copies bound in half calf or half morocco, Rs 6 and 8 shillings respectively, will be charged extra for the whole set.

No copies will be sent to non-subscribers till the work is complete and no single volume will be sold separately. The price to non-subscribers will be Rs 5 in India, and 3 guineas in England, exclusive of packing and postage.

REVENUE DEPARTMENT.

A Dictionary of the Economic Products of India

By Dr. G. WATT, C.I.E.,
Reporter on Economic Products.

Published under the authority of the Government of India in the Revenue and Agricultural Department.

The first two volumes of this work are now ready for issue, and intending subscribers are invited to register their names with the Superintendent of Government Printing, Calcutta.

Volume I contains the letters A and B, and consists of 550 royal pages. Volume II embraces the letter C in 689 pages. Volume III is in course of preparation, and will contain the letters D, E, F, and G. The whole work will, it is expected, be completed in six volumes by 1891, but a seventh volume may also be issued consisting of an index to all the vernacular and other names contained in the Dictionary, and thus as a work of reference, it is hoped, may prove of considerable value.

The price to subscribers will be in India Rs. 6 and in England 2 guineas, payable in advance, for the complete set. An extra charge for packing and postage will be made for the set—in India, at 8 annas per volume, and for England at 2 rupees 6 annas per volume.

For copies bound in half calf or half morocco, Rs. 8 and 8 shillings respectively, will be charged extra for the whole set.
*No copies will be issued to non-subscribers till the work is complete and no single volume will be sold separately. The price to non-subscribers will be Rs. 5 in India, and 3 guineas in England, exclusive of packing and postage.

REVENUE DEPARTMENT.

A Dictionary of the Economic Products of India.

By DR. GEO. WATT, C.I.E.

Reporter on Economic Products

Published under the authority of the Government of India in the Revenue and Agricultural Department.

The first two volumes of this work are now ready for issue, and intending subscribers are invited to register their names with the Superintendent of Government Printing, Calcutta.

Volume I contains the letters A and B, and consists of 559 royal pages. Volume II embraces the letter C in 619 pages. Volume III is in course of preparation, and will contain the letters D, E, F, and G. The whole work will, it is expected, be completed in six volumes by 1891; but a seventh volume may also be issued containing an index to all the vernacular and other names contained in the Dictionary, and thus as a work of reference, it is hoped, may prove of considerable value.

The price to subscribers will be in India Rs. 30 and in England 2 guineas, payable in advance, for the complete set. An extra charge for packing and postage will be made for the set—in India, at 8 annas per volume, and for England at 2 rupees 6 annas per volume.

For copies bound in half calf or half morocco, Rs. 6 and 8 shillings respectively, will be charged extra for the whole sets.

* No copies will be issued to non-subscribers till the work is complete and no single volume will be sold separately. The price to non-subscribers will be Rs. 35 in India, and 3 guineas in England, exclusive of packing and postage.

REVENUE DEPARTMENT.

A Dictionary of the Economic Products of India.

By DR. GAO WATT, C.I.E.,

Reporter on Economic Products.

Published under the authority of the Government of India in the Revenue and Agricultural Department.

The first two volumes of this work are now ready for issue, and intending subscribers are invited to register their names with the Superintendent of Government Printing, Calcutta

Volume I contains the letters A and B, and consists of 559 royal pages. Volume II embraces the letter C in 689 pages. Volume III is in course of preparation, and will contain the letters D, E, F, and G. The whole work will, it is expected, be completed in six volumes by 1891, but a seventh volume may also be required consisting of an Index to all the vernacular and other names contained in the Dictionary, and this as a work of reference, it is hoped, may prove of considerable value.

The price to subscribers will be in India Rs 30 and in England 2 guineas, payable in advance, for the complete set. An extra charge for packing and postage will be made for the set—in India, at 8 annas per volume, and for England at 2 rupees 6 annas per volume.

For copies bound in half calf or half morocco, Rs 6 and Shillings, respectively, will be charged extra for the whole sets.

*No copies will be issued to non-subscribers till the work is complete and no single volume will be sold separately. The price to non-subscribers will be Rs 15 in India, and 3 guineas in England, exclusive of packing and postage.

REVENUE DEPARTMENT.

A Dictionary of the Economic Products of India.

By Dr. G. WALLI, C.I.E.,

Reporter on Economic Products

Published under the authority of the Government of India in the Revenue and Agricultural Department

The first two volumes of this work are now ready for issue, and intending subscribers are invited to register their names with the Superintendent of Government Printing, Calcutta.

Volume I contains the letters A and B, and consists of 559 royal pages. Volume II embraces the letter C in 679 pages. Volume III in its course of preparation, and will contain the letters D, E, F, and G. The whole work will, it is expected, be completed in six volumes by 1891, but a seventh volume may also be issued consisting of an Index to all the vernacular and other names contained in the Dictionary, and thus as a work of reference, it is hoped, may prove of considerable value.

The price to subscribers will be in India Rs. 30 and in England 3 guineas, payable in advance, for the complete set. An extra charge for packing and postage will be made for the set—in India, at 8 annas per volume, and for England at 2 rupees 6 annas per volume.

For copies bound in half calf or half morocco, Rs. 6 and 8 shillings, respectively, will be charged extra for the whole sets.

*No copies will be issued to non-subscribers till the work is complete and no single volume will be sold separately. The price to non-subscribers will be Rs. 35 in India, and 3 guineas in England, exclusive of packing and postage.

REVENUE DEPARTMENT.

A Dictionary of the Economic Products of India.

By Dr. GEO. WATT, C.I.E.,

Reporter on Economic Products

Published under the authority of the Government of India in the Revenue and Agricultural Department.

The first two volumes of this work are now ready for issue, and intending subscribers are invited to register their names with the Superintendent of Government Printing, Calcutta.

An important feature of the Dictionary consists in the fact that conveyed information is in every instance given under quotation marks, and with a reference to the original publication. Numerous contributions have, however, furnished the results of new discoveries, and confirmed the vernacular names, so that the Dictionary is not only a complete compilation of published information, but has been brought abreast of the most recent inventions and discoveries.

Volume I contains the letters A and B, and consists of 559 royal pages. Volume II embraces the letter C in 689 pages, Volume III as in course of preparation, and will contain the letters D, E, F, and G. The whole work will, it is expected, be completed in six volumes by 1891; but a seventh volume may also be issued consisting of an index to all the vernacular and other names contained in the Dictionary; and thus as a work of reference, it is hoped, may prove of considerable value.

REVENUE DEPARTMENT.

A Dictionary of the Economic Products of India.

By DR. GEO. WATT, C.I.E.,

Reporter on Economic Products.

Published under the authority of the Government of India in the Revenue and Agricultural Department

The first two volumes of this work are now ready for issue, and intending subscribers are invited to register their names with the Superintendent of Government Printing, Calcutta

Volume I contains the letters A and B, and consists of 559 royal pages, Volume II embraces the letter C in 689 pages, Volume III is in course of preparation, and will contain the letters D, E, F, and G. The whole work, will, it is expected, be completed in six volumes by 1891, but a seventh volume may also be issued consisting of an Index to all the vernacular and other names contained in the Dictionary, and thus as a work of reference, it is hoped, may prove of considerable value

For copies bound in half calf or half morocco, Rs 6 and 8 shillings, respectively, will be charged extra for the whole sets

* No copies will be issued to non-subscribers till the work is complete and no single volume will be sent separately. The price to non-subscribers will be Rs 45 in India, and 5 guineas in England, exclusive of packing and postage

REVENUE DEPARTMENT.

A Dictionary of the Economic Products of India.

By Dr. GUN. WAFF, C.I.E.

Report on its Economic Products

Published under the authority of the Government of India in the Revenue and Agricultural Department.

The first two volumes of this work are now ready for issue, and intending subscribers are invited to register their names with the Superintendent of Government Printing, Calcutta.

Volume I contains the letters A and B, and consists of 559 royal pages. Volume II embraces the letter C in 689 pages; Volume III is in course of preparation, and will contain the letters D, E, F, and G. The whole work will, it is expected, be completed in six volumes by 1891; but a seventh volume may also be issued consisting of an Index to all the vernacular and other names contained in the Dictionary; and this as a work of reference, it is hoped, may prove of considerable value.

The price to subscribers will be in India Rs. 30 and in England guineas, postage and insurance for the complete set. An extra charge for packing and postage will be made for the sets in India, at 5s. 6d. per volume, and for England at 2s. 6d. per volume.

For copies bound in full calf or half morocco, Rs. 40 and 8 shillings respectively, will be charged extra for the whole sets.

*A separate set of printed forms for subscribers for the work is available and no extra charge is to be made for it. The price for subscribers in India is Rs. 10, and 3 guineas in England, exclusive of postage.

REVENUE DEPARTMENT.

- A Dictionary of the Economic Products of India.

By DR. GEO. WATTS, C.I.E.,

Reporter on Economic Products.

Published under the authority of the Government of India in the Revenue and Agricultural Department.

The first two volumes of this work are now ready for issue, and intending subscribers are invited to register their names with the Superintendent of Government Printing, Calcutta.

Volume I contains the letters A and B, and consists of 559 royal pages; Volume II embraces the letter C in 689 pages; Volume III is in course of preparation, and will contain the letters D, E, F, and G. The whole work, it is expected, be completed in six volumes by 1891, but a seventh volume may also be issued consisting of an Index to all the vernacular and other names contained in the Dictionary, and this as a work of reference, it is hoped, may prove of considerable value.

The price to subscribers will be in India Rs 30 and in England 2 guineas, payable in advance, for the complete set. An extra charge for packing and postage will be made for the set—in India, at 8 annas per volume, and for England at 2 pence 6 annas per volume.

For copies bound in half calf or half morocco, Rs 6 and 8 shillings, respectively, will be charged extra for the whole sets.

Nonces will be issued to non-subscribers till the work is complete and no single volume will be sold separately. The price to non-subscribers will be Rs 2 in India, and 3 guineas in England, exclusive of packing and postage.*

REVENUE DEPARTMENT

A Dictionary of the Economic Products of India

By Dr. Geo. WATTS, C.I.E.,

Reporter on Economic Products

Published under the authority of the Government of India in the Revenue and Agricultural DepartmentThe first two volumes of this work are now ready for issue, and interested subscribers are invited to register their names with the Superintendent of Government Printing, CalcuttaThe Dictionary is intended to deal with the products of India
—animal, vegetable, and mineral, each product being treated after a uniform plan, the paragraphs of which give the scientific name, vernacular, and European names, habitat or source, history, properties and uses, both chemical and industrial,
trade statistics, markets, &c. The work is arranged alphabetically according to scientific nomenclature, but commercial and important vernacular names are also given as cross references, so that little difficulty need be experienced in finding the account of a product even when its scientific name is unknown to the readerAn important feature of the Dictionary consists in the fact that derived information is in every instance given under quotation marks, and with a reference to the original publication. Numerous contributions have, however, furnished the results of new discoveries, and confirmed the vernacular names, so that the Dictionary is not only a complete compilation of published information, but has been brought abreast of the most recent inventions and discoveriesVolume I contains the letters A and B, and consists of 550 royal pages. Volume II embraces the letters C in 689 pages. Volume III is in course of preparation, and will contain the letters D, E, F, and G. The whole work will, it is expected, be completed in six volumes by 1901, but a seventh volume may also be issued consisting of an Index to all the vernacular and other names contained in the Dictionary, and this as a work of reference it is hoped, may prove of considerable valueThe price to subscribers will be in India Rs. 10 and in England 2 guineas, payable in advance, for the complete set. An extra charge for packing and postage will be made for the set—in India, at 8 annas per volume, and for England at 2 rupees 0 annas per volumeFor copies bound in half calf or half morocco, Rs. and 8 shillings, respectively, will be charged extra for the whole set.*No copies will be issued to non-subscribers till the work is complete and no single volume will be sold separately. The price to non-subscribers will be Rs. 15 in India, and 3 guineas in England, exclusive of packing and postageThe Shargi Architecture of Jaunpur, with Notes on Zafar-

REVENUE DEPARTMENT.

A Dictionary of the Economic Products of India.

By DR. G. WALLI, C.I.E.,
Reporter on Economic Products.

Published under the authority of the Government of India in the Revenue and Agricultural Department.

The first two volumes of this work are now ready for issue, and intending subscribers are invited to register their names with the Superintendent of Government Printing, Calcutta.

Volume I contains the letters A and B, and consists of 550 royal pages. Volume II embraces the letters C in 639 pages. Volume III is in course of preparation, and will contain the letters D, E, F, and G. The whole work will, it is expected, be completed in six volumes by 1891, but a seventh volume may also be issued consisting of an Index to all the vernacular and other names contained in the Dictionary, and this as a work of reference, it is hoped, may prove of considerable value.

The price to subscribers will be in India Rs 30 and in England 2 guineas, payable in advance, for the complete set. An extra charge for packing and postage will be made for the set—in India, at 8 annas per volume, and for England at 2 rupees 5 annas per volume.

For copies bound in half calf or half morocco, Rs 6 and 8 shillings, respectively, will be charged extra for the whole sets.

* No copies will be issued to non-subscribers till the work is complete and no single volume will be sold separately. The price to non-subscribers will be Rs 5 in India, and 3 guineas in England, exclusive of packing and postage.

REVENUE DEPARTMENT.

A Dictionary of the Economic Products of India.

By DR GEO WALL, C.I.E.,

Reporter on Economic Products.

Published under the authority of the Government of India in the

Revenue and Agriculture Department

The first two volumes of this work are now ready for issue, and intending subscribers are invited to register their names with the Superintendent of Government Printing, Calcutta.

Volume I contains the letters A and B, and consists of 539 royal pages, Volume II embraces the letter C in odd pages, Volume III is in course of preparation, and will contain the letters D, E, F, and G. The whole work will, it is expected, be completed in six volumes by 1891, but a seventh volume may also be issued consisting of an Index to all the vernacular and other names contained in the Dictionary, and thus as a work of reference, it is hoped, may prove of considerable value.

The price to subscribers will be in India Rs 5 and in England 2 guineas, payable in advance, for the complete set. An extra charge for packing and postage will be made for the set in India, at 8 annas per volume, and for England at 2 rupees 6 annas per volume.

For copies bound in half calf or half morocco, Rs 6 and 8 shillings, respectively, will be charged extra for the whole sets.

*No copies will be issued to non-subscribers; till the work is complete and no single volume will be sold separately. The price to non-subscribers will be Rs 5 in India, and 3 guineas in England, exclusive of packing and postage.

REVENUE DEPARTMENT.

A Dictionary of the Economic Products of India.

By DR. GEO. WAFF, C.I.E.

Reporter on Economic Products

Published under the authority of the Government of India in the Revenue and Agricultural Department

The first two volumes of this work are now ready for issue, and intending subscribers are invited to register their names with the Superintendent of Government Printing, Calcutta.

Volume I contains the letters A and B, and consists of 559 royal pages. Volume II embraces the letters C in 589 pages. Volume III is in course of preparation, and will contain the letters D, E, F, and G. The whole work will, it is expected, be completed in six volumes by 1891, but a seventh volume may also be issued consisting of an Index to all the vernacular and other names contained in the Dictionary, and thus as a work of reference, it is hoped, may prove of considerable value.

The price to subscribers will be in India Rs 30 and in England 2 guineas, payable in advance, for the complete set. An extra charge for packing and postage will be made for the set in India, at 8 annas per volume, and for England at 2 rupees 6 annas per volume.

For copies bound in half calf or half morocco, Rs 6 and Shillings, respectively, will be charged extra for the whole sets.

*. No copies will be issued to non-subscribers till the work is complete and no single volume will be sold separately. The price to non-subscribers will be Rs 5 in India, and 3 guineas in England, exclusive of packing and postage.

REVENUE DEPARTMENT.

A Dictionary of the Economic Products of India.

By Dr. GEO. WATF, C.I.E.,

Reporter on Economic Products

Published under the authority of the Government of India in the Revenue and Agricultural Departments.

The first three volumes of this work are now ready for issue, and intending subscribers are invited to register their names with the Superintendent of Government Printing, Calcutta.

The Dictionary is intended to deal with the products of India—animal, vegetable, and mineral, each product being treated after a uniform plan, the paragraphs of which give the scientific, vernacular, and European names, habitat, or source, history, properties and uses, both chemical and industrial, trade statistics, markets, &c. The work is arranged alphabetically according to scientific nomenclature, but commercial and important vernacular names are also given as cross references, so that little difficulty need be experienced in finding the account of a product even when its scientific name is unknown to the reader.

Volume I contains the letters A and B, and consists of 359 royal pages. Volume II embraces the letter C in 689 pages. Volume III contains the letters D, E, F, and G in 534 pages. The whole work will, it is expected, be completed in six volumes by 1891, but a seventh volume may also be issued consisting of an index to all the vernacular and other names contained in the Dictionary, and thus as a work of reference, it is hoped, may prove of considerable value.

REVENUE DEPARTMENT.

A Dictionary of the Economic Products of India.

By DR GEO. WATTS, C.I.E.,

Reporter on Economic Products.

Published under the authority of the Government of India in the Revenue and Agricultural Department.

The first three volumes of this work are now ready for issue, and intending subscribers are invited to register their names with the Superintendent of Government Printing, Calcutta.

The Dictionary is intended to deal with the products of India—animal, vegetable, and mineral, each product being treated after a uniform plan, the paragraphs of which give the scientific, vernacular, and European names, habitat or source, history, properties and uses, both chemical and industrial, trade statistics, markets, &c. The work is arranged alphabetically according to scientific nomenclature, but commercial and important vernacular names are also given as cross references, so that little difficulty need be experienced in finding the account of a product even when its scientific name is unknown to the reader.

Volume I contains the letters A and B, and consists of 559 royal pages. Volume II contains the letters C to G in 659 pages. Volume III contains the letters D, E, F, and G in 534 pages. The whole work will, it is expected, be completed in six volumes by 1891, but a seventh volume may also be issued consisting of an Index to all the vernacular and other names contained in the Dictionary; and thus as a work of reference, it is hoped, may prove of considerable value.

The price to subscribers will be in India Rs 30 and in England 2 guineas, payable in advance, for the complete set. An extra charge for packing and postage will be made for the set—in India, at 8 annas per volume, and for England at 2 annas 6 pence per volume.

For copies bound in half calf or half morocco, Rs 6 and 8 shillings, respectively, will be charged extra for the whole sets.

*. No copies will be issued to non-subscribers till the work is complete and no single volume will be sold separately. The price to non-subscribers will be Rs 25 in India, and 2 guineas in England, exclusive of packing and postage.

REVENUE DEPARTMENT

A Dictionary of the Economic Products of India

By DR. GEO. WALL, C.I.E.,

Reporter on Economic Products.

Published under the authority of the Government of India in the Revenue and Agricultural Department.

The first three volumes of this work are now ready for issue, and intending subscribers are invited to register their names with the Superintendent of Government Printing, Calcutta.

The Dictionary is intended to deal with the products of India—animal, vegetable, and mineral, each product being treated after a uniform plan, the paragraphs of which give the scientific, vernacular, and European names, habitat or source, history, properties and uses, both chemical and industrial, trade statistics, markets, &c. The work is arranged alphabetically according to scientific nomenclature, but commercial and important vernacular names are also given as cross references, so that little difficulty need be experienced in finding the account of a product even when its scientific name is unknown to the reader.

Volume I contains the letters A and B, and consists of 559 royal pages, Volume II embraces the letters C in 639 pages, Volume III contains the letters D, E, F, and G in 534 pages. The whole work will, it is expected, be completed in six volumes by 1891, but a seventh volume may also be issued consisting of an Index to all the vernacular and other names contained in the Dictionary, and thus as a work of reference, it is hoped, may prove of considerable value.

The price to subscribers will be in India Rs 50 and in England 2 guineas, payable in advance, for the complete set. An extra charge for packing and postage will be made for the set—in India, at 8 annas per volume, and for England at 2 rupees 6 annas per volume.

For copies bound in half calf or half morocco, Rs 6 and 8 shillings, respectively, will be charged extra to the whole set.

*No order will be issued to non-subscribers till the work is complete and no single volume will be sold separately. The price to non-subscribers will be Rs 5 in India, and 3 guineas in England, exclusive of packing and postage.

No.	Name of Forest.	District.	Area.	BOUNDARIES				REMARKS
				South.	West.	North.	East.
1	Hazar Ganj	Quetta	5,440	A line of dry stone pillars, more or less parallel with the range about $\frac{1}{2}$ mile from the bottom, and in the western end skirting round two small blocks of hillocks on the north side.	Starting from a conical hillock standing out in the plain, the main ridge running up to the highest peak of the range is followed to near the limit of vegetation up to a well-defined peak.	Descends from a sharp point on the shoulder of the highest peak of the range down a steep ridge into the ravine just below a shirney thunga, rises in an easterly direction on to the top of the range and follows it for about 2 miles.	From a well-defined peak on the top of the range descends nearly due southward to a dry stone pillar in the undulating ground near the foot of the hill.	Not more than 4,000 acres of this are fit for forest growth, but the rest is intended to secure a good boundary, and to protect the steep cliffs and slopes which occupy higher part of the range.

INSTRUCTIONS TO ENUMERATORS.

I.—PRELIMINARY RECORD.

1. In these rules a "house" means any building to which a census number has been affixed.

2. Beginning from the 6th of January 1891, you will visit every house in your block, in the order in which they are entered in the list in your book, and enter in the schedules in that book every person residing in those houses in the manner prescribed below.

3. Before beginning to make these entries, you must read carefully the rules for filling up each column which are printed on the next page, and also the specimen schedule filled up opposite those rules. You should point out to the supervisor all entries about which you are in doubt, and receive his instructions.

4. You must use black ink, and write very clearly in the character you know best.

5. You must take a fresh page for each house. If there are more than eight persons in a house, you should continue the entries for that house on the next page, repeating at the top of that page the number of the house in question, with the word

'continued' after it in brackets. You must never begin the entries for a fresh house in the middle of a page, but should leave the unused lines blank.

6. If the entry for any person in any of the columns of the schedule be the same as that of the person entered on the line above, you must repeat the entry and never write the word "ditto," or make dots.

7. If any house on your list be found unoccupied, you must write the word "empty" after the number.

8. You are to enter on this visit all persons who ordinarily live in and take their meals from the house, even though any of them may be, at the time of your visit, absent for a short time at the bazaar, or watching crops or fishing, or even for a few days at a wedding or on a pilgrimage, provided they are to be back at the house before the 20th February. After these ordinary residents you should enter the visitors, if any, stopping in the house, but not such as are only there for a day or two, as for a wedding, &c., and will not remain there till the 20th February. In the case of chattrams, cart-stands, temples, hotels, &c., you should enter on this occasion only those who usually live there, and not travellers, &c., stopping only a day or a night or so in the building.

9. You must have completed all the entries in your book by the 21st of January 1891.

II—THE FINAL CENSUS

10. At the time of lighting lamps on the 26th February 1891, you will take this book as already filled in and again visit every house in your block in order.

11. You must summon the chief member of each family residing in the house, and read over to him the entries made for his family in the schedule. You will strike out the entries for persons who are not present and fill up the form for any person now in the house who was not there when the first visit was made, such as guests, infants newly born, and others. You are to consider as present all living in or taking their meals from the house, even though any of them may be out fishing or watching in the fields, or at a shop, &c., for the night.

12. If there be no room left on the schedule for the fresh entries above mentioned, you must take a fresh page at the end of your book, and enter on it the house-number with the word 'continued' after it, as prescribed in paragraph 5 above.

13. You must see that you are yourself enumerated as present in the house where you are stopping.

14. You must make no alteration whatever in any entry against the name of any person unless you have to strike out the entries altogether because he or she is no longer present. When you so strike out a person you must draw the line completely through all the entries following that person's name, and not merely through column 1.

15. You must use only red ink for entries and erasures made at the final census on the 26th February.

16. At the final census you must visit every house marked "empty" in your book to see whether any person is now living there.

17. Before visiting the houses in your block you must go to the cart-stands and chattrams, and enter in the schedules all particulars for the travellers you may find there, giving a census ticket to each person to prevent his being again enumerated. If any of the residents at these places, who were entered by you at the preliminary census, are not now present, you must strike out the entries relating to them. You should ascertain, from the village watchmen or otherwise, whether any wandering gang, such as Brinjaries, Lambadies, &c., has come to pitch in your block, and if there be any such, you should go and enumerate it after you have finished the houses.

18. If any householder in your block has been given a separate schedule, you should collect it on the morning of the 27th February, and after seeing that the rules have been complied with in filling up the columns, you should stitch or pin it into your book, next to the last schedule filled up by you.

19. After your book has been inspected by the supervisor, you will prepare the short abstract printed on the back of the specimen schedule in it, as directed by the supervisor, and he will not take charge of your book until he has certified it to be correct.

20. According to the Census Act, every person is legally bound to furnish you with such information as is necessary for filling up the schedule; but you are forbidden to ask for any information not required for the purposes of the census, as, for instance, the amount of any person's income. Any enumerator detected in extorting money on any pretext connected with the census renders himself liable to punishment under the Census Act or the Penal Code.

III.—RULES FOR FILLING UP THE SCHEDULE

HEADING.—Enter the house-number, the name of the taluk and the village, and the number of the page.

RULE 7.—Column 7 (Age).—Enter the number of years each person has completed. For infants less than one year old, enter the word 'infant.'

If a person cannot state his or her age exactly, the enumerator should ask the relations, or refer to some well-known event of local importance, such as a famine, a cyclone, the Mahamagham and Pushkara festivals, &c., or if the person be present, make a guess at the age from the appearance. He must never insist on seeing any female who is not voluntarily produced before him.

RULE 8.—Column 8 (Marriage, &c.).—Enter each person, whether infant, child, or grown-up, as either married, unmarried, or widowed. This column must not be left blank for any one of whatever age.

Children who have been married should be entered as married, even though they may not have begun to actually live with their wives or husbands. The enumerator must accept the statement made by the person, or in the case of children, by their relatives.

RULE 10.—Column 10 (Birth-place).—Enter the district in which each person was born, and if the person be not born in the Madras Presidency, add the name of the Province or State to the district of birth. The names of villages, taluks, &c., are not to be given. If the person be born out of India, enter the country, as China, Kabul, Ceylon, &c.

REVENUE DEPARTMENT.

A Dictionary of the Economic Products of India.

By DR. GEO. WATT, C.L.E.,

Reporter on Economic Products.

Published under the authority of the Government of India in the Revenue and Agricultural Department.

The first three volumes of this work are now ready for issue, and intending subscribers are invited to register their names with the Superintendent of Government Printing, Calcutta.

The Dictionary is intended to deal with the products of India—animal, vegetable, and mineral, each product being treated after a uniform plan, the paragraphs of which give the scientific, vernacular, and European names, habitat or sources, history, properties, and uses, both chemical and industrial, trade statistics, markets, &c. The work is arranged alphabetically according to scientific nomenclature, but common and important vernacular names are also given as cross-references, so that little difficulty need be experienced in finding the account of a product even when its scientific name is unknown to the reader.

Volume I contains the letters A and B, and consists of 550 royal pages. Volume II contains the letters C in two parts. Volume III contains the letters D, E, F, and G in 314 pages. The whole work, which it is expected, will be completed in six volumes by 1891, but a seventh volume may be required consisting of an index to all the vernacular and other names contained in the Dictionary, and this as a work of reference it is hoped, may prove of considerable value.

The price to subscribers will be in India Rs 30 and in England 4 guineas, payable in advance, for the complete set. An extra charge for packing and postage will be made for the set—in India, at 8 annas per volume, and for England at 2 rupees 0 annas per volume.

For copies bound in half calf or half morocco, Rs and 8 shillings, respectively, will be charged extra for the whole sets.

Not copies will be issued to non-subscribers till the work is complete, and no single volume will be sold separately. The price to non-subscribers will be Rs 5 in India, and 3 guineas in England, exclusive of postage and packing.
